Harbor Lights Field Guide

Page 1. An introduction to the fictional town of Harbor Lights, its lighthouse, and the ferry that runs twice a day. The guide covers walks, tides and the market.

Page 2. Walks. The cliff path takes about ninety minutes and passes the old signal station. Wear boots after rain; the lower section floods at spring tides.

Page 3. Tides. High water comes roughly fifty minutes later each day. The harbour dries fully at low springs, which is when the mudflat birds arrive.

Page 4. The market. The Saturday market opens at seven. The stall to find is run by Mrs Okonkwo, who sells smoked mackerel and a plum chutney made from the orchard behind the chapel. Her stall number is 17.

Page 5. Getting there. The last ferry back leaves at a quarter past six in winter and at eight in summer. Parking at the quay is free after four.
